

Rain Drop

Contributed by Ray Silcox
Monday, 01 August 2005

One of my favorite effects of all time, the rain drop. I recommend use it on different kinds of wallpapers and it will be fantastic.

- Click here to see the video version of this tutorial.

- Open a image, where you will apply this effect. For this example I will use this image:  - Change your foreground color to: #030303 and background color to: #FD0202.

- Go to Layer - New - Layer and click ok.

- Select the brush tool (  ) and change the following settings of this brush:  - Using the brush tool, make a small rain-drop. (Click somewhere on your image, once).

- Go to Layer - Layer Style - Blending Options, apply the following settings and press ok:  - Go to Layer -

Layer Style - Drop Shadow, apply the following settings and press ok:  - Go to Layer - Layer Style - Inner Shadow, apply the following settings and press ok:  - Go to Layer - Layer Style - Inner Glow, apply the following settings and press ok:  - Go to Layer - Layer Style - Bevel and Emboss, apply the following settings and press ok:

- Now use the brush tool to make more drops, or make any shape you want too. You can also apply the same effect on a text to make rain-drop text :). - Final result should look something like this: 